Senate Confirms Beeson Nomination By 3-Vote Margin

Upper House Okays NLRB Appointee

Washington (AP) — Albert C. Beeson's confirmation as a member of the National Labor Relations Board squeaked through the Senate yesterday by a margin of three votes.

The appointment, which had aroused a hot controversy, was approved 45-42 after several hours of debate.

Beeson, a 47-year-old business man from San Jose, Calif., was endorsed by most Republicans as "eminently qualified . . . fair minded" and with a character above reproach.

But Democrats challenged his testimony before the Senate Labor Committee, and Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) denounced him as "a man utterly destitute of veracity."

Forty-two Republicans and three Democrats put Beeson over. The Democrats were Sens. Byrd of Virginia, Eastland of Mississippi and Holland of Florida.

Forty Democrats voted against him. They were joined by Sens. Langer (R-ND) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

The Democratic minority on the Labor Committee contended Beeson gave "false" testimony when he said he had resigned as vice president of the Food Machinery and Chemical Corp. in San Jose, had given up his pension rights and had not made statements attributed to him in the San Jose Mercury.

Later Paul L. Davies, the firm's president, testified that he knew of no resignation and that Beeson was on a technical leave of absence for one year to coincide with his one-year term on the NLRB. This was to protect Beeson's pension rights, Davies said.

Beeson subsequently severed all connections with the firm, sacrificing pension right. "This action will . . . create a precedent which will further increase the difficulties of the federal government in attracting to its service capable men from private life," the Republican majority on the committee commented.

Republicans said Beeson became confused during his testimony and that he had no intention of making untrue statements.

Richman To Direct Case

Trenton, N. J. (AP) — Gen. Grover C. Richman Jr. said yesterday he would take over personal direction of New Jersey participation in the Delaware River water diversion case before the U. S. Supreme Court.

The case involves a request by New York to divert an additional 360 million gallons of water a day from the Delaware River for use by New York City. New York is now permitted to take 440 million gallons daily.

New Jersey and Pennsylvania opposed this request, but the three states have reached an agreement to settle the case.

Richman said he and other attorneys representing New Jersey would appear before Special Master Kurt F. Pantzer in New York City today to urge a Supreme Court decree validating the agreement.

Cut In Butter Props Is Fixed At 8.25 Cents

Washington (AP) — The government will cut its support prices for surplus butter an average of about 8.25 cents a pound April 1 in an effort to encourage housewives to buy more of the spread and to discourage excessive production.

The new prices at which the government will buy butter under the dairy price support program will range between 57.5 and 58.25 cents a pound for top grades, depending on markets where offered. The present purchase prices range from 65.75 to 66.75.

Officials said they expected this reduction to be reflected in correspondingly lower retail prices.

Yesterday's action cleared the way for Secretary Benson and his Agriculture Department aides to devote fuller attention to the problem of what the government should do with its surplus stocks of about 270 million pounds. This is nearly a three months' consumer supply at the current rate of consumption.

Army Orders Trial For First Soldier Charged With Informing On Fellow American Prisoners

Washington (AP) — The Army yesterday ordered a courtmartial trial for the first American soldier charged with informing on his fellow captives and collaborating with his Communist captors in Korea.

He is Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, the Virginia mountain boy who changed his mind about staying with the Reds and returned to this country after first refusing repatriation.

Dickenson is the first Army soldier charged formally with squealing on his fellow prisoners to gain better treatment for himself. The Army is known to have under investigation the cases of other former prisoners who may face similar charges.

Dickenson is charged with violating the Military Code of Justice and specifically with violating two articles of the code. The first alleges that he gave information to his captors concerning his fellow prisoners and that by so doing he caused other Americans to suffer punishment and hardship.

He also is charged with unlawfully collaborating with the enemy and giving information to him. A conviction on the first charge could result in life imprisonment. The maximum sentence for conviction on the collaboration charge is death.

However, Dickenson's was described as a "non-capital case" by Maj. Gen. Edwin K. Wright, commander of the Military District of Washington, who ordered the pre-trial investigation. This means the extreme penalty would not be invoked, in event of conviction.

Dickenson was arrested Jan. 22, when he appeared at Walter Reed Army Hospital here for a medical checkup. The Army conducted a two-week pre-trial investigation of his case before ordering a general court-martial.

In announcing the action, the Army and the Defense Department emphasized that the charges were based solely on Dickenson's alleged conduct while he was a prisoner in the hands of the Communists in North Korea.

The fact that Dickenson first said that he wanted to remain with the Reds and stayed for several weeks in the neutral custodian camp operated by Indian army officers has not and will not be held against him, the Army said.

Dickenson was one of two Americans who changed their minds while in the repatriation camp. The other is Pfc. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., who is still in the Far East Command.

A third former prisoner, Cpl. Rothwell E. Floyd of Chicago, is standing court-martial trial at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., on charges that he murdered one or more of his fellow prisoners.

Ike Ties Hogan On Ninth Hole; Both Shoot Par

Palm Springs, Calif. (AP) — President Eisenhower delighted golf partner Ben Hogan and a cheering gallery yesterday by laying a difficult approach shot three feet from the pin on the ninth hole and then dropping the putt for a par.

The President and Hogan, one of golf's greats, teamed up at the Tamarisk Country Club and on at least one hole—the ninth—Eisenhower held his own with the master. Each had a par 4.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived here by plane from Washington Wednesday night for a five-day rest at the Smoke Tree Ranch home of Paul H. Helms, Los Angeles bakery executive.

New York (AP) — The much-buffed Rosenberg boys, orphaned by their atom spy parents' execution last June, were taken from unauthorized guardians yesterday by a children's court.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children complained that the boys, Michael, 10, and Robert, 6, were "being exploited for fund-raising purposes."

The SPCC declined to enlarge on its complaint outside of court. Communist agencies, among others, raised considerable sums of money for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg during their long legal fight that ended with their electrocution last June 19.

Mid-July Set For Opening New Bridge

Cresco—Construction of .64 mile of new road here which includes a steel-T beam bridge across the DL&W Railroad tracks is expected to be completed in mid-July, it was learned yesterday.

Crews from the Loe B. Mark Construction Co., Lebanon, Pa., began grading the cut off Dec. 14. The new road will divert traffic over the bridge instead of crossing the railroad tracks. Supervisor of the project said yesterday work is progressing on schedule.

Steel for the 144-foot-long bridge spanning the tracks is expected on site late in April, with construction due May 1.

The new road, designed to take traffic away from the railroad crossing, cuts west about 300 feet south of the railroad station, then returns to the highway about 400 feet north of the station.

Mark Company received the contract from the State Highway Department at its bid of $161,816.62 last year. While no completion date is incorporated in the contract, the firm was given 185 working days to finish the job.

The actual roadway will be 22 feet wide, with 10-foot shoulders on both sides. The steel bridge will have a 38-foot deck.

Twenty-one men are employed on the project, the supervisor said. The highway from Cresco to Paradise has been completed, with the exception of some side grading and piping. Work was done by Julius Krummell of Canadensis.

This section linking Route 940 and Route 90 at a junction south of Cresco, was under detour last summer, and reopened to traffic a few months ago.

Teamsters Bar Labor Merger

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — The big AFL Teamsters Union yesterday tossed a blockbuster into labor peace plans by refusing to go along with a proposed AFL-CIO "no raiding" agreement.

Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president, at the same time said John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Union, now independent, should be invited back into the AFL and made a party to any new labor peace moves.

Refusal of the 1,300,000 member Teamster group to sign the "no raiding" arrangement may kill efforts of AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther to use it as a stepping stone toward an AFL-CIO merger.

Up to yesterday nearly all CIO unions and 40 out of the AFL's 110 unions had agreed to sign, but many of these are expected to change their stand with the fast-growing Teamsters Union a hold-out.

Beck told reporters he favors labor peace and unity, but not until other unions give the Teamsters more than 50,000 workers which he said they have organized in Teamster jurisdiction. Contrary to complaints from other unions, Beck said the Teamsters have organized "very, very few" workers properly belonging to other labor organizations.

Mrs. McCarthy Hurt

New York (AP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said yesterday his wife's ankle was broken in three places and her right knee injured Wednesday night in a collision between their taxi and an auto in mid-Manhattan. The senator's only injury was a welt over his left eye.

Rocket Hits School

Chicago (AP) — A rocket from a parked Air Force jet plane accidentally discharged yesterday and smashed into a school where 350 girls were at their studies. No one was hurt.

Schwable Inquiry Broadened To Include Co-Pilot

Washington (AP) — The Marine Corps inquiry into a false germ warfare confession signed by Col. Frank H. Schwable was suddenly broadened yesterday to include Schwable's co-pilot on the flight that ended in their being taken prisoners of war.

The new party to the inquiry, called to determine whether any disciplinary action should be recommended, is Maj. Roy H. Bley, now assigned to the Marine Air Station at El Toro, Calif.

Bley testified that he and Schwable were shot down in North Korea in July, 1952, and that Schwable could have escaped if he had not gone to Bley's assistance.

Bley testified that he also had signed a fictitious statement about the United States engaging in bacteriological warfare.

Congressman Resigns From U.S. Commission In Protest Against Manion's Dismissal

Washington (AP) — Rep. Noah Mason (R-Ill.) resigned from President Eisenhower's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations yesterday with a blast at what he termed "autocratic dictatorship" by Sherman Adams, White House chief of staff.

Mason announced his resignation in protest against the firing of Dr. Clarence E. Manion, former dean of the Notre Dame University Law School, as chairman of the 25-member commission.

Late in the day, Manion telegraphed a plea to Mason to reconsider his resignation "in the national interest."

Manion told Mason he was "most grateful for your fine compliment to me," but declared:

"More than ever before, this important commission now needs your wise, patriotic counsel in the interest of revitalized constitutional government for the United States."

Manion said Wednesday he had resigned at Adams' request and attributed his ouster to speeches he has made supporting the administration-opposed Bricker amendment to curb the President's treaty-making powers.

A storm of criticism, almost entirely from Republicans, broke out on the Senate floor late Wednesday on the heels of Manion's tearful announcement to his staff that he was resigning against his wishes.

Associates said Manion's one desire was to carry on the monumental task assigned to the commission by President Eisenhower last Aug. 18 of seeking a remedy to the vast overlapping of federal vs. state-local programs on such matters as taxes, roads and other projects.

The White House withheld any public comment on published reports that it was dissatisfied with Manion's work as $50-a-day chairman of the commission.

McCarthy Calls On Army To Name Officers Who Promoted Alleged Commie

New York (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) yesterday demanded that the Army name within 24 hours its people who promoted and then honorably discharged a man described by McCarthy as a Communist.

McCarthy called it a "hurry-up discharge" and said the Army had ample evidence available beforehand that the officer, former Maj. Irving Peress, was a Red.

"Either the Army will give the names of men coddling Communists," McCarthy declared, "or we will take it before the Senate and attempt to have cited for contempt those responsible for a shameful situation. . . ."

"I want to know in 24 hours whether or not the Army will give those names."

The senator's demands came after Peress refused to tell McCarthy whether or not he was a Communist in uniform. He involved the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.

McCarthy figured a duplicate of Peress' honorable discharge at one point and declared:

"This was signed and handed to this Fifth Amendment communist major after I suggested to the Army that he be court-martialed. I did this to notify officers of the Army, to show that 20 years of treason has been ended."

Peress took the witness stand at a public hearing of McCarthy's Permanent Investigation subcommittee. The Wisconsin senator was the only member of the subcommittee present.

In Washington during the day, Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens laid down a new policy in response to complaints from McCarthy. Stevens said any reserve officer will be cashiered from the Army if he refuses to answer loyalty questions from a congressional committee or other proper agency.

Stevens, in a letter to McCarthy added that he is trying to work out some similar system to force regular officers to answer such questions. Regulars are governed by different laws than reserves.

Bill Outlawing 'Totalitarian' Party Offered

Washington (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) yesterday introduced a bill to outlaw "any totalitarian party which advocates the establishment of a totalitarian dictatorship."

He said he had the Communist party in mind.

Walter said he hoped the House Judiciary Committee would start hearings soon on the measure.

In an accompanying statement, Walter said:

"I have introduced today a bill to outlaw any totalitarian party which advocates the establishment in the United States of a totalitarian dictatorship. Of course, I have the Communist party in mind but I am using in my new bill certain definitions as they have been written into the statutes in 1950 and re-enacted in 1952 in the McCarran-Walter act."

In using legal language tested in courts, I am striving to make the proposal effective as soon as possible and not susceptible to prolonged litigation.

"Also, in an attempt to have all our laws relating to treason, sedition and subversive activities in one place, I am making my proposed bill a part of title 18 of the United States code which covers crimes and criminal procedures."

"I hope that the committee on the judiciary will start hearings on my bill very soon so that we may act on this necessary and timely legislation before the 83rd congress adjourns."

Southern Italy Washed By Flood

Reggio Calabria, Italy (AP) — Mounting floodwaters washed across large areas of this southern Italian province yesterday. They isolated scores of villages, damaged and destroyed homes and inundated rich farmlands.

Eighty hours of continuous rain forced mountains and mountain streams over their banks from Reggio, on the toe of the Italian boot, to Catanzaro, 100 miles to the north.

Scattered "blitz rallies" were held by the Reds in several other Western boroughs. These consisted of a dozen or so persons assembling at each point, distributing anti-Western leaflets and loudly denouncing the European Defense Community treaty which would permit West Germans to rearm under six-nation command.

Red China Invited To Participate

By Daniel DeLuca

Berlin (AP) — Russia and the Big Three Western Powers last night called for an Asian peace conference at Geneva on April 26 to attempt to unify war-shattered Korea and end the Indochina rebellion.

The four foreign ministers concluded their 25-day talks in Berlin with these historic decisions:

Washington (AP) — Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee called last night for State Department guarantees of "no appeasement" of Red China in the scheduled Asian peace conference at Geneva.

The Big Four foreign ministers' announcement in Berlin that they had agreed to start the Geneva conference on April 26, with Red China and North Korea participating, clearly caught most committee members by surprise.

conference on a Korean political settlement.

Two—Agreed this conference in Switzerland also would discuss the Indochina conflict with Red China participating in the talks.

Three—Promised to "exchange views" on Big Four disarmament under a resolution of the United Nations dated last Nov. 28.

Four—Admitted the Big Four's inability to agree at this time on unification of divided Germany and granting Austria its independence.

"The possibility emerges of effecting the unification of Korea, in freedom," U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told the conference in a farewell speech.

"There is also provided the chance, if Communist China wants it, of restoring peace and order in Indochina to have freedom and enjoy it in security."

Dulles did not hide the tough fact that the Soviet army still is dug in perhaps for many years on the Elbe and Danube Rivers in mid-Europe.

But "The Soviet leaders will surely come to see that freedom is not to be feared," Dulles said. "I am confident that if these basic realities (human rights) become better understood by the Soviet Union it will become possible to achieve a free and independent Austria, which we promised in 1943, and a unified Germany which, we said in 1945, was a purpose of our occupation."

Earlier, rival rallies in East and West Berlin by 150,000 workers ordered into East Berlin streets by Communist organizers, and 15,000 West Berliners who countered with a silent, ghostlike procession—marked the start of a propaganda battle over the conference.

After the East Berlin rally, 500 Communist demonstrators poured into the Western borough of New Koelln from Karl Marx Strasse, shouted "Down with the EDC treaty," and beat up several patrolmen. Police riot squads charged in and put the Communists to flight. Sixteen were arrested.

Scattered "blitz rallies" were held by the Reds in several other Western boroughs. These consisted of a dozen or so persons assembling at each point, distributing anti-Western leaflets and loudly denouncing the European Defense Community treaty which would permit West Germans to rearm under six-nation command.

Accused Pair Confess Two More Thefts

The list of burglaries by two Phillipsburg, N. J. men in Pennsylvania and New Jersey climbed to 16 yesterday, police said, when the pair, now in Monroe County jail, admitted to a New Jersey policeman four more New Jersey thefts.

Cecil Lawler, 26, and Robert Hutchison, 22, confessed to burglarizing three service stations and a taproom, according to Trooper Joseph Skalski, Washington, N. J.

Skalski listed the burglaries as Meadowbrook service station on Route 22, Lebanon, N. J. on Oct. 21; Isadore service station on Route 69, Hampton, N. J. on Oct. 23; Sunoco service station, 182 Washington St., Phillipsburg, N. J. on Oct. 30 and Brass Rail Tavern, Lopacong Township, Dec. 30.

The pair reportedly told Skalski they took tires, oil, tools and cash from vending machines in the service stations, and liquor at the tavern. No estimate was given as to the amount of money involved.

Lawler and Hutchison previously admitted entering three Monroe County places; eight in Northampton County and Lawler confessed to one in Plainfield, N. J.

Public Must Help

Importance of full and enthusiastic public cooperation in seeking to curb the alarming increase in crime, especially juvenile delinquency, is being emphasized this week as the Exchange Clubs of Pennsylvania carry on a program of education.

It has been estimated that in Pennsylvania alone a minimum of $60 million will be spent this year for law enforcement and corrective activities in political sub-divisions, with state agencies allocating an additional $22.5 million.

State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have given their full approval to the observance of Crime Prevention Week, and expressed the belief that only intelligent realization of the problems confronting every community will provide the needed solutions.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, veteran superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Police, remarked that the job of the policeman is not an easy one at best but that, without wholehearted co-operation from the public, it is extremely difficult for one to perform efficiently.

In our complex civilization the general public has lost sight of the part the individual citizen must play in the life of his community, and too often most of us disregard completely the opportunities for co-operation afforded us almost daily.

In the earliest period of the republic it was a matter of life and death for the individual to participate in enforcement of the law, and from the insidious growth of crime and juvenile delinquency we are of the opinion that it is again becoming equally important for the individual to play his part, without constant prodding.

Charity Rebuffed

The people of Fair Haven, N. J., whose interest in fighting polio prompted them to go out and raise $1,100 to help the cause, have been slapped down for their trouble. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says it doesn't want their money because it was raised without National's permission.

The money was raised by the town's Community Appeal, a modified Combined Charities organization of the type that is opposed by National Polio Fund directors and those of several other organizations. It was purely on the technical ground that the National had not approved use of the March of Dimes name that the offering was rejected.

The stated purpose of the March of Dimes campaign is to raise funds with which to finance research, prevention and treatment of polio. And that was the very purpose under which the good citizens of Fair Haven volunteered to help raise money desperately needed by the National Foundation.

We can understand the National Foundation being opposed to allowing just anyone to raise funds in its name, for that might conceivably open the door to charity cheaters. But when good citizens go out openly and raise money, we fail to appreciate the National's rebuff.

Defense Dept. Publications About To Be Investigated

Washington — A new "book" investigation is the works.

This time publications of the Defense Department will be probed.

The investigation will be along the general line of Senator Joe McCarthy's sensational source of State Department books. But he will have no part in the Defense Department scrutiny.

That will be made by the Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator William Jenner (R., Ind.).

Started Pentagon officials got their first word about this unnamed plan in a letter from Jenner. Until then, they hadn't the slightest inkling of being headed for this investigation.

They got the jarring news when Jenner wrote Assistant Defense Secretary John Hannah demanding:

A complete list of the authors, writers and others who have prepared material for the three armed services since World War II.

Copies of the thousands of books, pamphlets, radio and TV scripts, scenarios and other publications put out by the military forces in the past eight years.

Jenner singled out two items for special attention.

He particularly asked for detailed information on the widely distributed "Agnes" Forces Talk, and a documentary film recently made for the Army by George Kenan, former Ambassador to Russia and head of the Policy Planning Board that General George Marshall set up when he was Secretary of State.

Armed Forces talk is a magazine-type publication, issued by the Office of Armed Forces Information, to assist officers and non-coms in keeping their personnel abreast on a wide range of subjects. Its purpose is primarily news and information. Everything that goes into AFI is carefully scrutinized and approved by higher authority.

Kenan's documentary film deals with the menace of Communism and its sinister threats to the U. S. and a free world. The picture will shortly be given the prized Freedom Foundation Award. Kenan was one of the main authors of the "containment policy" against Red aggression, and has long been a congressional target. He quit the State Department last year after a publicly-voiced difference of view with Secretary Dulles.

Note: The White House is now putting out a private bulletin for the guidance of cabinet members and other top Administration officials in making public statements and speeches. Titled "Facts Papers," the publication is compiled by Charles Masterson, member of the White House staff, and personally edited by Sherman Adams before being distributed. Latest issue of the bulletin deals with the stormy controversy over the alleged 2,200 "security risk dismissals," and cautions against further use of this hotly challenged figure pending additional White House data.

Fried in Need — Leaders of the back-lag drive to increase congressional pay are resorting to a new stratagem.

They are trying to inveigle President Eisenhower into helping them.

First move in this wily effort occurred several days before the President departed for his California vacation. One of his top White House assistants was questioned on the possibility of obtaining the President's approval of a new plan to put over the pay hike as part of a government reorganization bill that would be proposed by the President.

In other words, the President would become the sponsor of the salary increase.

For the pay-hungry politicians this scheme would have two advantages; it would "take the heat off of them" for seeking more money, and they wouldn't have to vote directly on it. Reorganization legislation recommended by the President becomes operative unless two-thirds of either branch of Congress votes against it. Thus, the legislators wouldn't have to go on record on the bill at all.

The proposed pay reorganization measure would also include increases for federal judges, U. S. Attorneys and other legal authorities. This would give the canny plan still more protective "cover."

George Sokolsky Says...

Enemies Of Our Country Have Been Given Circulars Directing Them To Keep Silent

I have before me a circular giving instructions to the enemies within our country to pursue the line of silence. Don't talk. Don't in particular talk to anybody connected with the FBI.

The circular ends with these slogans: "Confront the F. B. I. with the working class dignity of Silence! Defend free speech by Silence to the police agents of the war-making, fascist-breeding monopolists!"

"Silence to the class enemy and its agents is devotion to the working class and the democratic traditions of our country!"

I wish that I could pursue the line of silence, particularly when the income tax forms come around. You and I are required by law to disclose all our affairs, our private deals, our income and some of our outgo, if we are self-employed and want deductions. The field man, who shows up a couple of years later, asks whether you bought that very pretty woman a lunch to get information for an article or just to show your friends that you can still be seen with a pretty one.

None of us enjoy the right of silence, not if we want a job and the personnel man insists upon knowing all about our lives, habits, foibles, marriage history and why we think that we are so good. You can accept the dignity of silence as a role in life, but you will never get the job.

The enemies within our country have issued 15 instructions to their slaves. The 15th instruction sums it all up:

"Remember this: the FBI agent has been sent out to bring back information. Conduct yourself in such a way that he will have to make this kind of report to his boss: 'I got absolutely nothing. Those people won't even open their mouths. They wouldn't even give me the right time!'"

They have a clear idea of how this agency works. It is in instruction 14:

"The FBI's pattern of spying is like a big jig saw puzzle. Every shred of information they get is fitted into place, helping them to complete that puzzle. There is no information which is not valuable to them. One small fact may not seem important—but it may lead them to another fact which is important."

This is quite correct and is the only method that produces results for the FBI or any other investigative agency. Conspirators do not provide information about their principal activities is to cover up, to hide under assumed names, to avoid detection, to confuse the hunt, to ally suspicion. Most conspirators and spies have a cover-up and a front, so that should their work be exposed, it will be very difficult to put a finger on the actual culprit and his favored accomplices. A smaller person is caught; the top man gets away. Such top conspirators as George Mink, and Gerhart Eisler get away; a small guy who signed petitions and joined front organizations is caught.

An investigation agency therefore picks up every little item and eliminates nothing. The raw files seem to be filled with rumor, gossip, small talk, even spite talk. When all these data are added to well-substantiated data, a mosaic appears on which is a well-designed pattern that points directly at the offender. In due course, he may be exposed. Whether he can be indicted is another matter; so many laws are written to aid the enemies of our country. Every investigation is a fishing expedition whether it is for a murderer, a kidnaper or a spy.

Item 5 says:

"Remember that FBI men are trained and skilled operators. And their skill consists in one thing—their ability to make you talk. If you don't talk—their skill and training is for naught!"

Human beings cannot live down their pasts, which pop up to plague them at the wrong time. The pattern may be one of irresponsibility, of lechery, of selling one's soul for money, or of treachery.

A conspirator rarely is without some index to his character which shows a pattern of misdeeds. It is possible to find in his past an index to his present conduct. That is why, in Congressional investigations, it is so essential to go back many years, often to student days, to reconstruct the character of a man whose wickedness is inherent in the work he has chosen for himself.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

It has never been quite clear to me whether, when the bargain sales in the stores are advertised, the goods are marked down FROM their real value or TO their real value.

It is, of course, very difficult to determine the real value of a dress or a hat or a coat. If a dress sells for $300, I personally can't see more than about $40 worth of stuff in it. The rest is the designer's name, the store's fame, and that completely mysterious ingredient—style.

The mere fact that Monsieur Blanc Mange or Madame Chaise Longue has designed a garment, immediately raises the price by 500 per cent from what it would have been had a Mrs. O'Connor or Mrs. Goldberg conceived it.

A few chicken feathers and a couple of artificial apples dreamed up by Monsieur Chemin de Fer add infinite value to what on Third Avenue would be called a hat, but on Fifth Avenue it is a chapeau and sells for $100.

I suppose an economist could explain all these phenomena, although sometimes I really think that problems of style and prices are more in the field of the psychiatrist.

I consulted my wife about the matter. She had a perfectly plausible and simple explanation for it. I cannot tell you what it was, because I haven't the slightest idea what she was talking about. To her, the whole business was perfectly clear and absolutely logical.

To a woman it is nothing out of the ordinary to have the price of a dress reduced from $100 to $65.98 over night. But let the price of meat group by just one penny, with a perfectly justified explanation by all the authorities, and she'll yell her head off.

Right now it's coffee. Day by day the coffee in my house has become weaker and weaker. I noticed the same deterioration of my favorite brew in the homes of friends.

TB Society Considers Buying X-Ray Machine For Use Here

Decision Put Off Pending Cost Study

Exploration of the possibility of acquiring a chest x-ray machine to process all food handlers, school students in the county as well as patients admitted to the General Hospital, was initiated last night by Monroe County Tuberculosis Society.

The matter has been subject of discussion for some two years. It was given further study this week with Frank S. LaBar, president of the hospital; Dr. Paul Shiffer, Carl Secor, TB president, and Mrs. Fleming, TB secretary.

Dr. Shiffer, a director of the TB Society and head of the hospital x-ray department, filed a report last night with the society which dealt with factors and data required to make a sound decision.

Fact that conditions other than TB, including heart and cancer matters, are turned up in such x-rays, opened the door to possible collaborating in acquiring the x-ray machine.

Basically, the machine would be stationed at the hospital and the x-rays processed there. However, it would be of a type that might be moved to any point.

Cost factors, including initial investment, operation costs, charges, etc., will be developed for further study by the next TB directors' meeting March 18.

Mrs. Estelle Fleming, executive secretary, reported 11 x-rays had been handled by the society, including nine food handlers.

Directors authorized Elwood Hintze to negotiate for a new car to replace the 1948 auto which the society owns.

150 Persons Fail To Turn In Tax Forms

More than 150 county residents are delinquent in turning in personal property tax forms to county commissioners.

The figure was revealed yesterday by Chief Clerk Harry Taylor who said that more than 150 letters will be mailed out today to the persons failing to submit the forms.

Personal property tax forms are required for all persons holding bonds, mortgages, stocks and other interest-collecting investments.

An original deadline of Feb. 15 was set for the submission of the forms.

Commissioners, however, have extended the deadline to Saturday, Feb. 27.

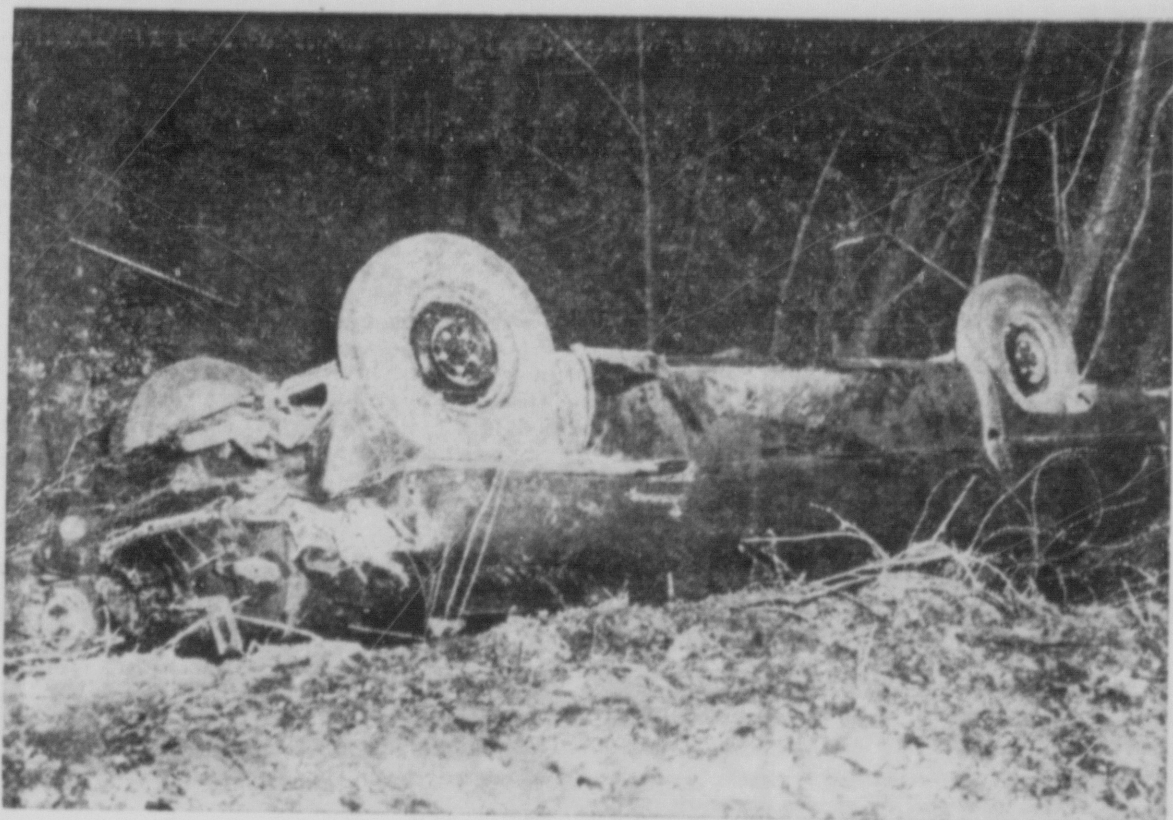

All persons who have not submitted the forms by the latter date will be fined 12 per cent of the taxation normally levied.

TWICE WITHIN THREE MONTHS Harold Kresge, 27-year-old Saylorsburg resident has had a narrow brush with death. On Nov. 11 last year, Kresge was walking along Route 115 when a bale of paper and cardboard fell from a passing truck. Kresge was hospitalized and treated for chest injuries. Last night at 7:30, Kresge was driving a new model car toward Saylorsburg on Route 115. The car crossed to the left, ran off the highway, smashed through guardrails, plunged down a steep embankment, turning end over end in the process, state police said. Kresge was thrown clear of the vehicle, however, before it went down the bank, police added. He was taken to General Hospital where he was treated for a possible fractured shoulder, scalp cuts and cuts over the left eye. Six stitches were required to close the cuts. But hospital sources said his condition was "good" late last night. Stroudsburg State Police Troopers Ed Benesi and Emil Weber investigated the accident. Photo shows Kresge's car, turned upside down, flattened and almost demolished after the crash.

Mount Pocono Residents Discuss Y

Officials of the Monroe County Young Men's Christian Association addressed a group of Mount Pocono area residents last night at Skyline Inn.

Purpose of the meeting was to outline the ideals, purposes and present plans of the county Y with particular emphasis on a potential branch Y for Mount Pocono's region.

Berne Cramer, Pocono Summit, served as chairman of the meeting. Cramer introduced John R. Wilson, executive secretary of the county YMCA.

Wilson discussed the origin of the Y, its plans for the future and then introduced Carlton Chopp, director of YMCA youth programs.

Holt Wyckoff, president of the county YMCA, described the organization of the Y on the local level.

Discussion following the talks centered on possible appointment of a temporary branch Y board. This board, if set up, would be divided into equally temporary committees to study financing, organization and the feasibility of setting up a permanent branch board.

Residents attending the meeting agreed that a tentative time schedule for these operations should be set up with an eye toward setting up a complete organization affiliated with the county YMCA no later than the Fall of this year.

Part Of Travis Store Loot Recovered In West Virginia

Two police officers returned to Monroe County late Wednesday night with about $400 in merchandise that was stolen here last Nov. 21 and transported to West Virginia.

Two men were implicated in the theft, police said. The recovered loot was part of the $3,000 in merchandise taken from the C. H. Travis Hardware Store, East Stroudsburg, during one phase of a four-state burglary spree by the men last year.

Officer Travis Seese, of East Stroudsburg police and Pfa. Alex Kearns, of Stroudsburg State police recovered the merchandise from the homes of both men and combed the West Virginia hills almost constantly for 48 hours with State and county police from Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia.

Seese said last night that detainees are being filed against the two men, both now in prisons in Philadelphia and Delaware.

The men were identified as Bernard Rumbold, 22, and George Tase, about 33, both of Fenbush, W.Va.

Rumbold is being held in Philadelphia County Prison for burglarizing a hardware store in Avondale and Tase is in Delaware County prison, Dover, Del. on the same charge there.

Seese said the men are charged with robbing four hardware stores, including the Travis place at 15 S. Courtland St.

Seese praised the work of co-operating officers who launched a full-scale investigation in October. He said some of the merchandise taken from the Travis store possibly is scattered in several states, but indicated much of the loot taken from all stores may now be down mine shafts or well hidden in the West Virginia hills.

Seese and Kearns left here at 6 a.m. Saturday, stopping first in Philadelphia where Det. Sgt. George M. Sawyer of the State

Boards Agree On Jointure Cost Proposal

Bangor—School directors from six districts involved in a proposed joint school system met last night at the high school here.

With 26 out of a possible 37 potential directors from all six districts attending the meeting was marked by harmony on proposed financing of a joint school building and operation of schools.

Bangor school board, at a meeting Wednesday night, had suggested that financing of a proposed joint secondary school should be figured on the basis of the market valuation of assessable real estate in each district.

Operation of the schools, according to the Bangor plan, would be split cost-wise on the basis of per pupil population.

Washington, Upper and Lower Mount Bethel Townships and East Bangor and Roseto expressed themselves in agreement on this proposal last night.

During discussion of the potential joint senior high school, however, some disagreement centered on the Bangor proposal that the present Bangor High School building should be rented to the jointure for use as a junior high school.

Board members from other districts were split in their reaction to this proposal. Some members favored building a joint junior-senior high school to serve all districts while others expressed doubt they would be able to finance a share of building costs within their own districts.

During discussion of the possible inclusion of Portland on the joint system, two Portland directors expressed belief that their district would be willing to enter jointure with some districts, excluding Bangor borough.

Since the steering committee was divided on whether to build a new joint junior-senior high school or a new senior high school and use the present Bangor High School as a junior high, the matter was referred back to the individual districts for study.

The committee will meet again March 18 to take up the matter.

Asa B. Martin Repays $600 In Expense Monies Received As Pike County Official

Millford—Repayment of expense monies he received as director of Pike County Institution district during the period July 1, 1949 through July 1, 1951 resulted in discontinuance this week of a suit to recover the money from Asa B. Martin, a former Pike commissioner and institution district director.

Action was filed against Mr. Martin by the county and discontinuance was ordered by President Judge Fred W. Davis on a formal motion after the repayment. Sidney Krawitz, county solicitor, instituted the suit for the county.

Involved was $600 in expense monies paid to Mr. Martin at the rate of $25 a month for the period from July 1, 1949 to July 1, 1951. Two other commissioners who served with Mr. Martin for the four years 1948 through 1951 also received the expense money which was granted under a law adopted in the 1949 session of legislature to become effective July 1, 1949 and last for two years.

The law directed that county institution directors be allowed to collect expenses and it was signed by the then Gov. James Duff. Rate of expense reimbursement was fixed on the basis of the county's classification. Pike is an eighth class county.

Some time after the law was in force it was attacked in the courts. Both the Pennsylvania Superior and Supreme Courts voided the law.

It was on the basis that the law was voided, and therefore that the payment was improper, that the action was instituted against Mr. Martin by Commissioners J. Russell Eschback, Lloyd Gumble and Jay Schroeder.

Mr. Gumble returned to the county the expense monies he received in the period between July 1, 1949 and July 1, 1951 before the Martin suit was initiated in Pike County Court. Gumble had also served as commissioner and institution district director during the four-year term starting in 1948.

Mr. Schroeder, who served in the same period, returned institution district expense monies he received during the period of July 1, 1949 to July 1, 1951 sometime prior to the time the suit was discontinued against Mr. Martin.

Pike commissioners' office official confirmed all of the repayments yesterday.

Attorney Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg, former Pike County solicitor, represented Mr. Martin. Mr. Edwards filed preliminary objections to the suit against Martin.

Basis of his objections was that there had been no exception taken to the audit covering the years in which the institution district ex-

County Wheat Acreage Being Determined

Arrangements are being made to determine the wheat acreage on all farms by a representative of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, David H. Griffith, chairman said yesterday.

Farmers who do not receive notice of overplanting will be eligible for a marketing card which entitles them to market their wheat penalty free. Those who overplant will not be entitled to a marketing card until they have disposed of their excess wheat as directed by the county committee.

The penalty on excess wheat, according to the chairman, is 45 per cent of the May 1, 1954, wheat parity price and will be charged against all the wheat sold from a farm unless the farmer presents a marketing card or marketing certificate. He explains that the excess wheat is the normal yield per acre times the excess acres.

The grower of excess wheat has four choices, Griffith said. He may: pay the penalty in cash; store the excess on the farm, furnishing bond to the county committee; or paying the penalty to the county committee to be held in escrow; store the excess wheat in a public warehouse and furnish the county committee with warehouse receipt; turn the excess wheat over to the secretary of agriculture by signing the appropriate forms at the county ASC office.

Grain buyers also have a responsibility under the program, Griffith advised. If grain is bought from a farmer who does not have a marketing card, or marketing certificate, the buyer is subject to the penalty on the wheat purchased, he said. The wheat involved is subject to a lien in favor of the U. S. Treasury.

To be safe, the buyer should deduct the per bushel penalty at the time of purchase, holding such sums and the appropriate sales records for later disposition as directed by the county ASC office, the chairman said.

A marketing card or marketing certificate presented by the producer at the time of sale is evidence to the buyer that the wheat is free from penalty, Griffith explained.

Most of us think of George Washington as a great warrior, a patriot and leader of men; but his leadership goes far beyond that. He was a farmer and a good one. That's an angle a lot of history books have overlooked. Today we also recognize him as America's first scientific farmer.

Being a scientific farmer in those days was not easy. Washington had to experiment to find how much fertilizer he needed to apply to get the best crop; what practices to follow to keep his soil from washing away; what varieties of crops were best for his farm and hundreds of other things that farmers today can get just by listening and reading. He even had to design and build his own tools in a lot of cases. His dairy tells of building a plow and a threshing machine, and of working out a system for the most efficient use of labor on his farm. One of the little known facts

Molotov Won 3 Victories On Final Day

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press News Analyst

Russia's Molotov won three important victories at the Berlin conference, all on the last day.

He very probably accomplished his own major objective, which was to delay and if possible defeat French ratification of the European Defense Community.

He obtained agreement that Russia would sit in a Korean peace conference without having to assume the position of a belligerent, on which the United States had previously insisted.

He secured a place for Red China at a great world meeting. The reservation by the United States that this has nothing to do with recognizing the Reds as the proper rulers of China has little practical effect on the fact.

Committee work in the French Assembly on EDC is nearing completion, and as late as Wednesday the government was expected to press for a vote in mid-March.

First reaction among official French sources in the United States, subject to quick change, was that the agreement for a new conference would not be permitted to interfere with this program.

The matter of timing, however, was to be reviewed when Foreign Minister Bidault returned from Berlin. Consideration of the whole situation suggested very strongly that the government could not win in the Assembly at a time when such an effort to Russia would threaten negotiations on Indochina which are scheduled to follow the Korean talks at Geneva April 26.

Molotov's long filibuster against EDC seemed to be working.

The effect of the decision to hold the Korean peace conference under the aegis of the foreign ministers is to bypass the United Nations, and perhaps to bypass some of America's old and most interested friends, like the Philippines.

The door for participation at Geneva by other than the major Korean belligerents was not closed, but it isn't very wide open, either.

The Berlin decision means the end of efforts by the United States representing the United Nations, to make direct arrangements with Red China for a Korean conference, confirming the de facto situation which has existed since the United States representative walked out at Panmunjom.

There is no prospect that such a conference will achieve anything except a confirmation of the division of Korea, just as the Berlin sessions confirmed that of Germany. The West has nothing except peace to offer for a unified Korea, and the Reds are not interested in that.

The complexion of the conference will change after the Korean discussions to eliminate North and South Korean representatives and include Indochinese and perhaps other interests. There is a bare possibility of a truce in Indochina, but it is very bare, with no more chance for a Western victory than there was in Korea.

Educator Urges Religion Study

Atlantic City, N. J., CP — Widespread religious illiteracy among parents, teachers and pupils should be met by teaching religion as a factual study in public schools, a school system executive said.

Clarence Linton, professor of education at Columbia University, told the annual convention of the American Assn. of School Administrators:

"Unfortunately religious illiteracy among parents, teachers and pupils is so widespread that many simply do not recognize facts and implications of religion intrinsic to school experience and therefore unconsciously avoid them."

Former Ball Player Will Give Address

The next meeting of Youth For Christ will be a rally on Saturday at 8 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg. Miles will tell his own story of how his hopes were shattered when he lost his pitching arm and chances for the big leagues.

The girls' trio will sing. The song service will be led by Bob Bullock.

Sewing Circle Marks 56th Anniversary

Barrett—Celebrating their 56th anniversary, the Sewing Circle of the Canadensis Methodist Church held a luncheon yesterday at Pine Knob Inn with 61 members and guests present. They were welcomed by Mrs. Reeve Price, president of the circle. Rev. Edgar Moore gave the invocation, and praised the cooperation and support of the circle in church work.

The program on the theme, "Never Underestimate the Power of a Woman," had been arranged by Mrs. Lillian Lewis and Mrs. Elsie Price, and had both its serious and gay aspects. Mrs. Lewis gave the annual report of circle activities before a variety show starring members.

Mary Seese and Mrs. Predmore opened the show as acrobats; Evelyn Huguenin, as chef, portrayed the home maker with Gladys Cairney as the artist; Helen Seder and Lillian Lewis as ballerinas. A dramatic skit starred Becky Seese, Leila Daniels, Marion Winter, Elsie Verno, Helen Carlton and Helen Seder.

The entire cast joined in three songs, directed by May Price, with Helen Seese as accompanist. Their songs led into "Old Lang Syne" by the whole circle in honor of Mrs. Anna Stephens and Miss Wilbur Pine Knob Inn.

They are planning to fly to Germany in the near future, and were presented with gifts from the circle.

The luncheon table was decorated with gladioli and greens and lighted by candles, with individual favors at each place. A tiered anniversary cake decorated with gladioli formed the centerpiece.

The decorations were arranged by Elsie Price, Marion Winter and Lillian Lewis.

Just Between Us
—By Bobby Westbrook

Maybe this warm weather isn't sprouting the seeds quite yet, but it sure is hatching the parties, right and left. Showers and birthdays and anniversaries.

And speaking of anniversaries, the Sewing Circle of the Canadensis Methodist Church had its 56th yesterday with Mrs. W. H. Brewer and Mrs. Mary Seese there with memories of all 56 years to recall. Somewhat of a record I should think.

The Pocono Union Ladies Aid Society had its anniversary recently, too. Its 39th anniversary. And reading about their party brought back again the Sunday of our vacation when we went to Pocono Union Church. And it's just as gleaming white and trim and cozy as the Aid Society says it is.

There's an experience every one should have, at least once in a while. When you're part of the congregation in a small church, you can't sit there complacently thinking that the minister is praying and preaching for somebody else. Even the back rows are so near the pulpit and the other listeners so few that the message comes through with an intimate and personal force.

You can't nuzzle your responses or renege on the singing either, because each voice counts as a separate entity. But all singing together, within the small compass of the sanctuary, you can certainly make a joyful noise unto the Lord.

Coloring Books Hinder Child's Art Expression

Coloring books often hinder a small child's progress in art expression, Charles Goodwin, art instructor at the Stroudsburg High School, warned parents of the Pocono Play School Co-op at a meeting held Tuesday night at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

His topic was "Art for the Pre-School Child," and he suggested that a large black crayon should be among the child's first media for art and said that colors often interfere with a young child's artistic expression. He also said that parents shouldn't interfere with a child's "scribble."

President Mrs. Berta Katz conducted the short business meeting before the program. She announced that the Play School had made great progress. It is now filled to capacity and has a waiting list of applicants.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Warm hearted and gay; a blithe spirit in a black dress. That's a description no one would attach to Laura Fabel unless fortunate enough to be her intimate friend. Nevertheless, it's a picture so frequently voiced by all who know her well, it surely must be true. At our hosiery counter where one most frequently sees her, "our Miss Fabel" appears easy-going, serious, and industrious—the type of person most likely to be elected president of a church group or W.C.T.U. But while she would qualify for these honors, Laura herself would probably be far happier rattling around in an antiquated jeep, or racing down hill on a toboggan.

She may not look the part, but the head of our hosiery and glove department also holds the women's service record at Wyckoff's. She has been a member of our store family 37 years this September, and was first assigned to the cosmetics, infants, stationery, shoe and toy departments, all of which occupied the one corner now devoted to cosmetics alone. Not only has Laura watched Wyckoff's grow, she has been a very important factor in its growth.

The late Marvin Smith, store manager when Laura became an employee, was one of the many who took delight in the pranks she would play. He never forgot the wave of excitement created when she dressed a figure of Santa Claus in some of the night watchman's clothes, and seated it in the furnace room. Mr. Smith had more than one chuckle at the expense of the frightened man, who rushed into his office, demanding a gun, after spying the formidable "stranger."

It is this same love of laughter that even today wins Laura a wealth of friends among persons of all ages. Ask Harold Albert about her, and he recalls winter sports parties, employee camping trips, and hilarious minstrel shows, with Laura at the hub, having a wonderful time. Mention her to Cora Albertson, and she remembers Laura's first car. It had a rumble seat and was soon the carry-all for anyone needing a ride. You could hear it a block away, for it always rocked with the songs and shouts of a crowd en route to or from a picnic or trip. Ask Dorothy Dunn about her, and you're reminded that Laura was a Girl Scout captain for 11 years. She was also an officer of the Junior Woman's Club, and a loyal Red Cross worker. "She's a wonderful person," you are told, "always doing something for others. If she isn't helping someone out of a jam, she's probably painting someone else's walls. She should have had the Good Neighbor Award ages ago."

Laura likes people and is happiest when part of the crowd. Because of this, she's perfectly content in the busy department of which she became buyer 23 years ago. If you ask about her store memories, she recalls the tragic flu epidemic of the first World War when only five clerks reported to work and all greeted the customers wearing masks of gauze soaked in disinfectant.

Being mechanically minded, Laura has been trained by the Red Cross for ambulance driving, and even today drives for the Blood Bank. Her hobbies include all outdoor activities, from ice skating to gardening. She prefers wild flowers, and raises snowdrops, Blood root, trillium, Solomon's Seal, and the like. When she reads, she selects a biography or biographical romance, such as "A Man Called Peter" or "So Long as Love Remembers." "But why mention all that?" she asks. "Just say I'm a person who loves life—every minute of it. I always have."

able to take the measure of their East Stroudsburg rival, a team currently riding in fifth place in the standings.

The Poconos held the upper hand throughout the contest, with the exception of the first period, during which the Grand Theater played the charges of Coach Tom Shiffer on even terms.

Most of the first period found the East Stroudsburg cagers enjoying a slight lead, until a last second spurt pushed the Poconos in front, 13-12. The Stroudsburg quintet enjoyed its biggest margin of the contest in the second round when the visiting five held a 12-4 advantage and moved in front at the halfway mark, 25-16.

The number two club in the standings held a slim 12-11 edge in the third period, but went on to cement victory in the late portion of the last round, 18-12. The Grand Theater trailed by only six points at one portion of the last quarter.

Ray Steele and Henry "Hank" Stetler were held to 13 and 12 points respectively by some outstanding defensive play by Al Adelmann and Ray O'Melko. Stetler also missed the first quarter by reporting late for the game. O'Melko was forced from the contest in the last quarter with a twisted ankle.

Jim "Bunky" Smith paced the Poconos in scoring with 15 markers, while Jack Boushell was number two scorer for the Grand Theater with 12 tallies.

Each team shot 28 times from the free throw line, with the Poconos finding the range 15 times and Grand Theater on 13 occasions. Lineups follow:

Stroudsburg Lists Football Budget

Stroudsburg High School's Athletic Association estimates that it will cost the school $6,088.07 to support the football program next season, according to figures released last night by Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at the W. Main St. school.

Number one on the football expense list is a total of $2,177.65 for new equipment and supplies. Other breakdowns include $159.92 for first aid supplies; $300 for insurance; a similar $300 total for doctors and hospital fees, while $600 has been set aside for transportation of teams and band during the 1954 grid campaign. Printing of programs has been estimated at $150, while officials for the season will draw $307.50. Police protection and direction of parking is listed for $140 for the campaign, while faculty assistance at the contests has been estimated at $188.

Stroudsburg coaches attending coaching clinics will set the program back $130, while scouting opposing teams is listed at $20. A total of $800 has been set aside for reconditioning equipment and cleaning bills are expected to amount to $125. Letter awards are expected to cost $10, while another $30 is on the agenda for field work, including lining up the gridiron prior to each contest.

Guarantees will cost Stroudsburg High $300, while light service will run another $100. A total of $100 will be given to cheerleaders for uniforms, megaphones, etc., while another $100 is earmarked for the miscellaneous fund.

Total receipts from football admissions and programs for the 1953 campaign has been announced as $6,182.06. The estimated cost of the 1954 football season was $4,604.37. This means that football, the only sport to pay for itself at Stroudsburg, provided a profit of $1,577.69 last season.

Football in recent years, including the present one, carries all three major sports at Stroudsburg High financially.

The W. Main St. school's athletic program is financed from game receipts and is not supported by school district funds.

Girls' Cage League Formed In Bangor

Bangor — A six-team girls' basketball league was formed here at Bangor High last night, during a meeting of five of the six schools involved. The gathering was held in the Bangor school's library.

The circuit will be made up of Bangor, Pen Argyl, Easton, Fountain Hill, Bethlehem and Allentown Central Catholic high schools.

All schools in the newly formed league were present last night, with the exception of Fountain Hill. But, Fountain Hill had informed all parties that it was anxious to enter a league of this type when the subject was first approached earlier in the school year.

Officers
Paul LaBar, Bangor High's faculty athletic manager, was named president of the new organization, while Mrs. Mary Wendell, of Allentown Central Catholic, was elected secretary.

The circuit is to be known as the East Penn Girls' Basketball League and tentative plans call for the first game to be played January 7, 1955. A schedule will be released at a later date featuring each school playing every other school one time.

All action taken last night is subject to approval by the respective school boards.

Bangor was represented at last night's meeting by Trevor Williams, principal, and LaBar.

Gray's Chevrolet Overcomes Early Deficit To Account For Victory Over Johnson's

Tannersville—Gray's Chevrolet, a basketball squad that shared the first half championship in the Pocono Mountains League, gave a demonstration of its power here on the Pocono High School court last night, by taking the measure of Johnson's Diner, 86-56.

Only during the first quarter was there any doubt concerning the outcome of the game, particularly when Johnson's cage machine rolled into a 15-13 advantage after 10 minutes of play.

Harry Warner, Johnson's center, picked up a total of 25 points, but his efforts weren't enough to turn the tide of battle in favor of the losing aggregation.

Barbers, Biggs' Triumph In YMCA Loop

Pratt's Barbers, first half title holder in the Senior YMCA Basketball League, launched the second half campaign with a convincing 70-48 victory over Penn-Dell.

The other half of the bargain ball featured Biggs' Restaurant at a 60-15 decision over Worthington Mower.

Frank's club held the upper hand throughout its contest with Penn-Dell, holding the upper hand in every period and never once in danger of losing its advantage.

Biggs' contingent was outscored in the fourth quarter, 15-14, but the damage done in the first three rounds was too much of a handicap for Worthington Mower to overcome.

Dave "Muscles" Everett, center for Biggs' club, captured high scoring honors in the doubleheader, while Danny Smallincomb, Worthington Mower center, was next in line with 16 counters.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Montclair's 102-87 victory over East Stroudsburg State Teachers College on Tuesday night wasn't the basketball slaughter that it might appear on the surface, that is unless a 15-point reversal is considered a slaughter in this modern day and age. There was no doubt as to the winner from the early moments of play, but the Warriors ran up their highest total of the current campaign and in no way were disgraced in defeat. Montclair, with maybe the exception of Millersville, was the best cage machine to appear on the Normal Hill hardwood this season—at least from this angle of observation.

This was the first time, to the best of my memory, that any visiting cage machine has bettered the century mark in the Normal Hill gymnasium during the past eight seasons, or as long as this scribe has been covering the local sports beat. But, it definitely isn't the first time that an ESSTC cage machine has had 100 points scored against it during a game. In January of 1952 Fairleigh-Dickinson scored a 104-63 decision over the Warriors, on the New Jersey club's home boards. In other words, it has been a Jersey team that has bettered the century mark twice in the past eight years.

Montclair's club was highly polished to say the least. The visiting five on Tuesday had a decided advantage in height and featured three players averaging over 20 points per ball game. The club was well drilled, handled the ball well and did everything good basketball teams should do. ESSTC also put on one of its better shows, even though defensive basketball was thrown to the winds. Play ranged up and down the court and good shooting was the order of the day, as both clubs scored from many angles, including one Montclair field goal from beyond mid-court.

If Ray Kaseman, ESSTC forward, isn't the best basketball player in this area, he'll do until the best cage decides to put in an appearance. Kaseman stole a page from Johnny O'Brien's book and played the "pivot" like the former Seattle wizard, against towering opposition. Despite the handicap in size the former Shamokin High star "smoked" the nets for a total of 27 points, to share top point billing with Montclair's Connie Perry.

Included on Montclair's list of 15 victims were such schools as CCNY, Panzer, Trenton Teachers, Newark Engineering College, Paterson and Bloomfield. The big red and white clad club has dropped four decisions, against Rutgers, Panzer, Rider and St. Joseph's, one of the top clubs in the Philadelphia area. Montclair used eight men in the contest, but the first five traveled most of the route and thrilled a large crowd with its court savvy.

Captain Ed "Jake" Palmer was the only ESSTC cager in action against Montclair who will be lost to the squad by graduation next year. George Colonius, who won his basketball and football, spurs at East Stroudsburg High, will also graduate before next season, but didn't play against Montclair because of illness. All in all, Tuesday's defeat at the hands of Montclair must be regarded as a fine showing by the winning club, rather than a poor performance by the losing aggregation.

Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, of East Stroudsburg football, basketball and baseball fame, made his debut on television's channel six, Wednesday afternoon and came through with flying colors once again. Harry Schaeffer, former pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos and a graduate of ESSTC, became a father for the second time last week. The latest arrival in the Schaeffer household is a girl, weighing in at nine pounds, 11 and one-half ounces. This makes a boy and girl for the likeable southpaw hurler, who reports to Kansas City, of the American Association, next month.

Ted Murray, football and track star at ESSTC, is currently nursing a leg injury, as the result of a fall on the ice. Bob Hartman has been reinstated to the ESSTC court squad, after being dropped for a short spell. Fred Linett, freshman member of the ESSTC junior varsity basketball team, was a member of the same LaSalle High school cage machine as was Tom Gola, All-American court star now performing for LaSalle College. Bangor High's basketball squad is having trouble with injuries at the present time, with the two big guns, Wayne Pysker and Gary Wynne doubtful starters tonight.

Pysker suffered a broken nose and Wynne is hobbled by a damaged ankle. Jack Butler, recently named freshman football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, is well known in this area and annually attends the Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association Clinic at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. In fact, Butler used to be an officer in the organization.

Stroudsburg On Home Boards With Palmerton Foe

Mountaineers Face Chance To Make Change

Stroudsburg High plays host to one of two teams tied for first place in the Lehigh Valley Basketball League when Palmerton puts in an appearance on the W. Main St. court tonight.

A junior varsity tussle will begin at 6:45 p.m., while the main event will get underway at approximately 8:15 p.m.

Palmerton is currently tied for the top spot in the standings with Whitehall, each team displaying a record of four victories and one defeat.

Stroudsburg on the other hand is in a two-way deadlock for top place, as Lehighton shares the cellar spot. The Mountaineers and Indians each have a mark of one win and four setbacks thus far in the second half.

Improved

Palmerton has displayed as much improvement this season as any club in the circuit. The Blue Bombers were never a serious threat for the first half crown, but right now the club is one of those most likely to succeed in the second half.

The Mountaineers have been tough on their home boards all season, scoring a first half win over Catawqua, then dropping tough decisions to Slatington and Whitehall. A victory for Palmerton tonight would be a giant step toward the title for the Bombers.

Coach John Kupiec announced yesterday that his Mountaineers would answer the starting whistle with Dave Nevil and Don Diebler at the forward posts; Dick Little, center, and Captain Karl Wein-gartner and Don Garaventi at the guard positions.

Stroudsburg officials plan to open the admission doors at 6:30 tonight, instead of the usual 6:30 time.

The Mountaineers have two games remaining on their schedule this season, an appearance with Emmaus, on the Stroudsburg hardwood next Tuesday and the final tussle of the season with East Stroudsburg, on Tuesday, March 2.

The Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg game will be played on the N. Courtland St. gym.

Bangor Meets Fountain Hill

Bangor — Bangor High will play host to league leading Fountain Hill in a Lehigh-Northampton League basketball contest here tonight.

The junior varsity encounter is slated to begin at 6:30 p.m. while the main event is on the agenda for approximately 8 p.m.

Coach John Heard was undecided about a starting lineup last night, due to a nose injury suffered by Wayne Pysker and a damaged ankle suffered by Gary Wynne.

Possibilities
If Wynne and Pysker are able to answer the starting whistle, the opening lineup will find Wynne and Keat at the forward posts; George Voorhees, center, and Pysker and Rodney Miller at the guard positions.

Fountain Hill is currently rolling along with a second half record of six wins and no defeats.

Bangor has only two games remaining after tonight, one at Hellertown next Tuesday and a home appearance with Coplay next Friday.

Trabert Rallies To Down Shields

New York City U. S. champion Tony Trabert, loser of the first seven games and once two points from defeat, found his touch just in time last night to subdue 43-year-old Frank Shields in the opening round of the national indoor tennis championships.

Final Scores
While sponsors sweated it out with their prime gate attraction, the 23-year-old Cincinnati Davis Cup ace finally prevailed, 6-6, 9-7, 6-2.

Sely Sets Foul Shooting Record

Greenville, S. C. (AP) — Furman's Frank Sely broke the big college career record for free throws last night with 21, increasing his total to 625, as he scored 45 points in Furman's 93-49 conquest of Mercer.

Old Mark
The old free throw record was 611 by Walt Dukes of Seton Hall.

Barrett To Show Championship Ability Against Monroe County All-Stars In Annual Tussle

Another capacity crowd is expected to cram itself into the East Stroudsburg High School gymnasium tonight to see the annual Monroe County League All-Star basketball attraction, pitting Barrett against the best the remainder of the league has to offer.

Barrett will be host to both the junior varsity and varsity contests, earning the honor by winning both championships during the course of the regular campaign.

Coach Joe Murray will be at the helm of both Barrett clubs, while Don Wismer, coach of second place Coolbaugh, will handle the varsity All-Stars.

The junior varsity All-Stars will be directed by Art Smith, basketball and baseball mentor at Polk.

Otto "Junior" Mills, president of the Monroe County League and baseball and basketball coach at Chestnut Hill High, released a list of All-Stars yesterday.

The varsity list includes Tom Williams and Bob Hallet, a pair of seniors from Pocono; Willard Costanzo and John Franks, Tobehanna Township; Ken Hawk and Roy Serfass, Polk; Andy Sapp and Francis Yakita, Coolbaugh, and Don Conklin and Harry Possinger, Chestnut Hill.

Barrett's starting lineup will feature Roger Roan and Phil Price at the forward slots; Dave Harris, center, and Phil Williams and Stan Cheslock at the guard posts.

Members of the junior varsity All-Star squad will be Douglas Nelson and Farley Peetachka, Pocono; Harry Costanzo and Joe DeSanto, Tobehanna Township; Larry Souders and Tom Carney, Polk; Tom Wiley and Tom Cucerine, Coolbaugh, and Don Beck and Al Kresge, Chestnut Hill.

The doors are scheduled to open at 6:45 p. m. and the junior varsity tussle will begin at 7:20. Action in the varsity battle will begin immediately after the preliminary encounter ends.

All proceeds of the game will be used to cover the cost of the circuit's annual athletic banquet.

The game is held each year in the N. Courtland St. gym, through the cooperation of authorities at East Stroudsburg High School.

Pocono High cheerleaders will lead the cheers for the All-Stars in both the varsity and junior varsity games.

Waymart, Hawley Risk League Marks

Newfoundland—Hawley will be shooting for win number 14 at Moscow and Waymart will be striving to keep pace with the front-running Buckhorns when they take on Damascus in the headline contests of tonight's four-game Wayne County Basketball Conference slate.

Forced to take second-billing inasmuch as the conference race has been reduced to a two-team affair, Greene - Dreher - Sterling will play host to hapless Honesdale and Lake Township will engage Preston at Lakewood, in a Northern Division tilt.

Moscow, putting up a rugged scrap before falling before Waymart, 83-70, Tuesday night, could be a trouble spot for the Buckhorns as the latter tuneup for the "big one" against Waymart next Tuesday. The Trojans were an easy 56-40 victim in an earlier meeting but of late have shown great improvement and could put a crimp in the hopes of Coach Maurice Bobst's charges.

Waymart should have little trouble at Damascus. The Swords-men have only one victory in 11 starts this season while the Warriors have dropped but a lone decision in 11 trips to the WCC boards.

There is a possibility that Greene-Dreher will be back at full strength for the Honesdale encounter and if such is the case, the Stags should have better than an even chance to pull over the .500 mark in the Southern Division standings.

Lake Township, a 19-48 winner over Greene-Dreher-Sterling Tuesday night, will be facing a good Preston club, whose latest accomplishment was Tuesday's 62-50 victory over Honesdale.

East Stroudsburg Basketball Squad Invades Pen Argyl High

East Stroudsburg High, still smarting from a series of heart-breaking basketball defeats, will attempt to land its initial second half victory in the Lehigh-Northampton League pennant chase tonight, when the Cavaliers tangle with Pen Argyl High on the latter's home boards.

Action in the junior varsity encounter is slated for 6:30 p. m., while the main event will get underway at approximately 8 p. m.

The Cavaliers, lower to Fountain Hill by one point on Tuesday of this week, 66-65, have suffered a series of close defeats that makes the no wins and five loss second half record appear worse than it really is.

Record
Going into tonight's contest the East Stroudsburg cagers are sporting a record of seven victories and 12 defeats, or seven more favorable decisions than scored by the Cavaliers of the 1952-1953 contingent.

Eastburg defeated Pen Argyl earlier in the campaign, 74-40.

Coach Dick Forster is expected to stick with the same lineup that carried almost the entire load against Fountain Hill. This means that Co-Captain Don Herman and Barry Lambert will be at the forward spots and high scoring Bill Penyl at center. Harold White, fresh from the finest game of his career against Fountain Hill, and Bob "Red" Kupiszewski will handle the guard duties.

Co-Captain Joe Chase, out of action with a pair of injured ankles, isn't ready to return yet, but Paul Turner is expected to be off the sick list and in uniform tonight.

Jere Young and Howard Smith are expected to see action in the role of substitutes tonight.

Pen Argyl and East Stroudsburg are currently tied for the eighth and ninth positions in the standings with identical records.

Following tonight's activity the Cavaliers are idle until next Tuesday, when they oppose Nazareth, on the latter's home court.

Barrett Five Tops Eastburg Junior High

A Barrett basketball team, made up of reserve junior varsity players, proved too strong for East Stroudsburg Junior High School yesterday, 36-18, on the losing club's home boards.

It was the final game of the current campaign for the East Stroudsburg quintet, enabling yesterday's host to wind up the season with six victories and two setbacks.

Barrett held the upper hand throughout the contest, although outscored in the second period, but did the bulk of its damage in the second half.

Points

The visiting Barrett five held a 7-3 advantage at the end of the first period and a 10-7 lead at the halfway mark, after East Stroudsburg held a slim 4-3 edge in the second round.

Barrett ran up a 12-8 advantage in the third quarter and a 14-3 bulge in the last six minutes of play to make certain of victory.

East Stroudsburg made good on eight of 21 foul shots, while Barrett hit on only four of 20 charity tosses, but held a wide 16-5 margin in field goals.

Dale Metzgar and Carl Smith led the East Stroudsburg attack with eight and six points respectively, while John Zink, Barrett forward, brought down top scoring honors with 16 tallies.

AT A RENTON, WASH., PLANT, the 500th C-97 Stratofreighter nears the end of the production line before rolling out from the factory and into service with the United States Air Force. The 175,000-pound aircraft, which hits speeds of 350 miles an hour, is used by the Strategic Air Command as an aerial refueling tanker and also a transport plane.

THIS PICTURE should bring back a bit of nostalgia for GIs and ex-servicemen who have visited a USO camp or seen a group show overseas. Air Force Secretary Harold Talbott (left), A-1c Marge Eburg and Mrs. Talbott blow out the candles on a cake at a USO in Washington in observance of the 13th anniversary of the GIs' "home away from home."

WHY DON'T YOU cut this picture out and save it for those hot, sweltering "dog days"? Although this looks as if it were taken in an ice cave, it's an artificial display at Clearfield, Ut. It was made by turning a garden hose on a tree and covering it with blue cake coloring.

CANINE CHAMPIONS

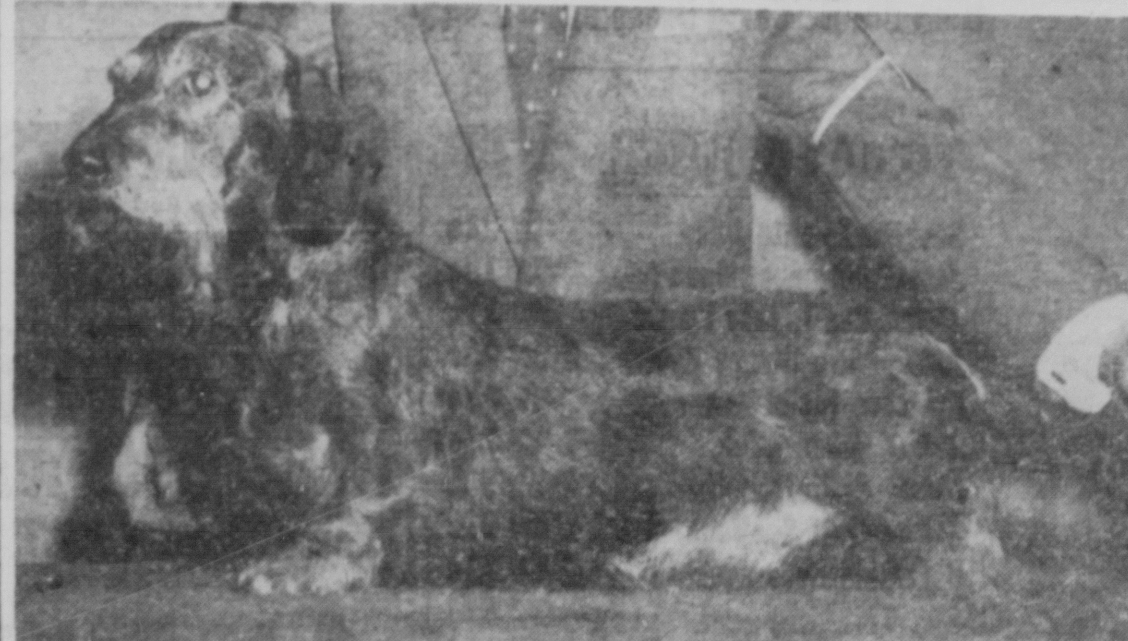

ONE OF DOGDOM'S most highly-prized competitions is the Westminster Kennel club show held in New York's Madison Square Garden. This year, the 78th annual show, more than 2,500 dogs from all parts of the United States competed in blue ribbon events. The dogs came in all shapes and sizes, but they all shared one thing in common—they're all among the elite of the canine world. Here are some of the "Best of Breed" winners.

Ch. Mike of Meadboro walked off with the top honors among the English setters in show.

Couple Opens Luncheonette At N. Fifth St. And Ave. E

By James B. Gaffney

Yesterday marked the official opening of a new luncheonette for the fast-growing N. Fifth St. section of Stroud Township.

Kenneth and Ann Custard expect to continue their opening through Sunday, and are offering two ice cream cones for the price of one to those visiting their store at N. Fifth and Ave. E.

James B. Gaffney

This is the first business venture for the young couple who expect to remain open seven days a week, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. The store is located in the front section of the couple's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Custard will have the working assistance of John and Doris Possinger, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Custard.

In addition to fountain service for ice cream, sundaes, sodas and beverages, the store will handle patent drugs and cosmetics. They also expect to sell greeting cards shortly.

Stroudsburg's Sears-Roebuck store, affiliated with Wyckoff's Department Store, has stepped up its mail order delivery service so that shipments on most items are assured in 48 hours.

Henry Kresge, manager, said yesterday the improved program gives customers prompt service that previously took from five to seven days.

Action followed a recent visit here by F. Carter Schaub, general manager of Sears' Philadelphia mail order plant. Schaub felt the necessity to expedite local delivery and a series of surveys, mail tests and deletion of several handling chores in Philadelphia followed.

Under the new plan a customer can order any day, the article will be shipped from Philadelphia the next day and delivered here the third day. A few items are restricted in this program, however. But they embrace most of the bulky merchandise that may be stored in other plants.

Sears local mail order department currently is shooting for a clean sweep in a sales contest for the Eastern territory which includes stores in states from Maine to Virginia.

Headed by Miss Cora Bisbing, the department which only recently augmented facilities by employing a telephone service as an aid to customers, took three of the four awards in 1953. Decision on the last quarter contest has not been disclosed, but it was learned Stroudsburg's store is running in the fore.

Details of production and installation of fibre pipe, one of Line Material Company's outstanding products, were outlined to 70 area plumbers and officials of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg Wednesday night.

Arranged jointly by Lehigh Valley Supply Co. and Line Material, the meeting was conducted by Charles Burkett, of L.M., and John Cowley, branch manager for the supply firm, local L.M. distributors.

Line Material's fibre sewer and drainage pipe, now in full production after its introduction some 12 years ago, is credited with opening new markets for the plumber. It is used in irrigation, drainage, sewer piping, filter beds and for industrial non-pressure uses.

Produced in sizes ranging from two to six inches, the pipe is being handled in this region by Lehigh Valley Supply. William J. Doorley, general manager and John Hughes, sales department, both of the L.V. Allentown headquarters, were among those in attendance.

Line Material representatives included Burkett, George Johnson,

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked numbers give you.

Washington—Raging forest fires are destructive and spectacular to see. Yet the quiet, insidious work of insects and diseases cause a far greater loss to the nation's timber.

The United States Forest Service reports that in a 10-year period the country lost 622 million cubic feet of timber to insects and diseases and 460 million cubic feet to the ravages of fire.

Take an extended tour through the forested areas of the country. You will notice stretches of trees that have been shorn of their leaves and their limbs, standing bare against the sky and the weather. These may have been attacked epidemic by aerial spraying with DDT.

Those fighting spruce budworm are well aware of the danger it can cause for they remember the epidemic of 1910-1920 which hit the spruce and fir forests of northern New England, eastern Canada and Minnesota. In that decade alone, more than 25 years' supply of pulpwood for America was lost.

White pine blister rust and oak wilt are two of the more serious diseases attacking the nation's timber supply. Blister rust weakens or kills the white or five-needle pines and can be controlled by destroying currant and gooseberry bushes which grow near or among the trees. Blister rust fungus spends part of its life cycle in these bushes and therefore cannot spread directly from pine to pine.

Effective methods of controlling oak wilt are being sought by the Department of Agriculture and many states. This disease, which attacks all native oaks, has spread rapidly in the midwest and has recently been found in the east and southeast.

Officials of the Forest Service believe that, in the long run, good forest management if applied nationwide will help in the defense against many insects and diseases. This may include removal of mature timber as well as trees which have been weakened by disease or insect infestation.

Small Watershed Ideal For Flood And Erosion Control

By A. Norman Dietrick
SCS Technician

The "small watershed" approach to soil and water conservation and flood control is developing much interest all across the nation.

It is generally considered the most logical way to lessen the effect of floods, reduce erosion and conserve water since it attempts to deal with the water right where it falls, in the very headwaters of the streams.

The aim is to trap the raindrops where they fall and control their progress toward the sea in every way known.

This entails the use of many conservation measures. Some are easily installed on individual farms, whereas others depend upon community or group action for their establishment and success.

It is the cooperative effort which will bring about the highest degree of success. The goal should be the establishment of a complete soil and water conservation program on each and every farm in the watershed.

A fine example of this type of cooperative action to develop a permanent agriculture is in Stone Valley, Northumberland County. There are 21 farms in the watershed, and a high percentage of the erosion control work has been accomplished.

The results are gratifying. This technician has had the pleasure of working with several of the farmers in Stone Valley.

Those who are interested in organizing their conservation efforts through the small watershed group should contact the directors of the Monroe County Soil Conservation District for assistance and advice.

Expect It to Be Copied!

The beautiful new 1954 Cadillac is now in our showroom—and this is an automobile that every American motorist should see... and inspect... and drive!

They should do this, first of all, because it will give them a better understanding of the things by which to judge the world's motor cars. And they should do this, too, because it will give them a revealing glimpse into the future of automotive design.

For it can be said, with the full support of historic precedent, that much of today's Cadillac will find its way into the cars of tomorrow.

Cadillac's sweeping new lines, its new proportions of glass and steel, and its many superlative new details of design will unquestionably have a profound influence on automotive stylists the world over.

The new roominess of Cadillac's interiors, the new beauty of its appointments, and the new richness of its fabrics and leathers will give the industry completely new standards of comfort and luxury.

And Cadillac's great new power and responsiveness, its wonderful new handling ease and its incredible smoothness of operation are certain to serve as engineering guideposts for years to come.

But imitation is one thing—duplication another. And no amount of imitation could ever produce Cadillac's happy combination of brilliant styling, extraordinary luxury and magnificent performance.

Nor could it bring to another motor car Cadillac's unprecedented acceptance among the world's motorists... the feeling of pride that comes to the man who sits behind its wheel... or its reputation as the Standard of the World.

These are Cadillac "exclusives"—hard won through decades of motor car leadership, and through undeviating adherence to the highest ideals of automotive production.

We repeat—you ought to come in and see the new 1954 Cadillac. For it is Cadillac's annual report to the nation on the progress of American motor car design—and the news has never been so exciting!

You'll be most welcome at any time.
